Explore the ruins of Chacchoben, an ancient Mayan pilgrimage location known as "The Place of Red Corn." On the 50-minute drive there, the guide will describe some of the history and culture of the Mayas that is pertinent to Chacchoben. Because of the dense jungle, the overgrown site wasn't discovered until the 1940s and more than 50 years passed before excavation was begun. Dense foliage still surrounds Chacchoben, lending it an ancient feel that the ruins greatly enhance. While meandering about, you will likely see the original red paint on the stucco walls in one of the pyramids and the temple with a mural showing the astronomical positions of Venus. You will also have time to climb the Gran Basamento, a structure that rises above the tree level, where archaeologists found ceremonial offerings. Before re-boarding your coach for the return transfer to the pier, you will have a brief break to enjoy a complimentary beverage and perhaps purchase a souvenir.

- Explore the ruins of Chacchoben, a Mayan city that dates to about 1,000 BC.

Watch them basking in the sun, lounging in trees and munching on vegetables. Some of the iguanas are over three feet long, and while they may look imposing they're really quite passive. Continuing on, you'll make your way to the Mayan-Eden Eco-Park for a visit to the butterfly and tropical bird section there. Take a magical walk through an enclosed area that contains a wide variety of local butterflies. Learn about some of Honduras' most vibrant varieties of butterflies and about this delicate creature and its intricate lifecycle. The garden is also home to tropical trees, plants and exotic rescued birds and animals. Hummingbirds dart happily from blossom to blossom and you'll no doubt see colorful parrots flying free. COZ-1GT CHEF LED TEQUILA VS MEZCAL SEMINAR & TACO PAIRING

Duration: 3.50 Hrs Tour Price: $129.00

Retail Price: $279.00

Date: February 26, 2026 03:30 PM, 03:30 PM

What is better than pairing artisanal tequila with homemade tacos? Discover the distinguishing characteristics of tequila and mezcal during a tasting that pairs these distilled spirits with traditional Mexican tacos. Although similar to tequila, which can only be made from Blue Weber agave, mezcal can be made from any agave plant, so there is a much greater variety of tastes. However, mezcal typically has a signature smoky flavor that comes from cooking the heart of the agave in underground pits lined with hot rocks. The tequila expert will explain each step-in detail so you will come away with an understanding of the artisanal processes. The tequilas and mezcals will be served with a sampling of tacos that will perfectly complement them. Although the menu varies, it will likely include fried tacos, Yucatan-style barbecued pork tacos and tacos de guisado, which are filled with meaty stews. To enhance your understanding of everything you consume, the chef will describe their origins.

- Chef-Led tours are never more than 18 guests and always led by the chef instructor onboard.
- Discover the differences between tequila and mezcal, which are both made from agave plants.
- Sample mezcal and a number of tequilas, paired with a variety of tasty tacos.
- Gain insight into the distillation of the spirits and the preparation of the tacos from the chef.
- Dress in weather-appropriate clothing.
- Wear flat comfortable walking shoes.
